

Domestic Violence

Attorney Dennis Alan Lempert has 43 years of experience and a successful and long record of handling all types of domestic violence cases. Dennis Alan Lempert's experience has allowed him to relentlessly fight to help his clients minimize losses to the greatest extent possible.

Since the infamous O.J. Simpson case, domestic violence cases are vigorously prosecuted throughout California. Sometimes, too vigorously to the point where police and prosecutors power can harm the people involved. Arrestees and sometimes even injured persons should be represented by Dennis Alan Lempert who is prepared to fight your case when faced with domestic violence charges.

Domestic violence and related charges often result from the allegation of force on a spouse, significant other, child, or a person with whom an accused has been involved in a dating relationship. The law encourages the police to arrest on virtually all calls of allegations Domestic Violence or related charges.

Domestic violence crimes, whether misdemeanors or felonies, are considered aggravated felonies for immigration purposes and often result in deportation from the United States.

A conviction for a domestic violence related offense can have very serious consequences for even the first time offender. Those consequences can include difficulty in finding a new job, serving jail time, long term counseling, a potential loss of child custody because of a presumption against child custody in Family Court child custody proceedings, a violent crime criminal record, formal probation, anger management and other consequences.

NEVER, NEVER, NEVER talk to the police without your experienced criminal defense lawyer being present.

ALWAYS insist that you want a lawyer before you say anything.

NEVER consent to the police to search you, your car or your house without a search warrant
